

STGC Launches Lecture Series

Jason Sharp

Stephen Hill

As part of the 175th celebrations of our alma mater, the school held its first in a series of lectures entitled, “Pioneers of Tomorrow: A Knight’s Dialogue.” The first of these was delivered by Jason Sharp, Managing Director of Café Blue, at the Abe Issa Auditorium, Tuesday, March 25, 2025. The series is being organized by Stephen Hill, (STGC Class of ’59), CEO at CIN TV.

According to Mr. Hill, the idea behind the lecture series, is to introduce graduates of St. George’s and other schools to entrepreneurs who have created strong and prosperous businesses with the intent of inspiring our young men and women to aspire to excellence in their future careers. Congratulations to Stephen Hill and to the school for organizing such a worthwhile program. The next in the series is a lecture by Mr. Philip Wong (Class of ’59).

Please see Gleaner article posted on our website

<https://stgctoronto.com/2025/03/27/cafe-blue-boss-holds-pioneering-dialogue-with-students-at-st-georges-college-lecture/>

stgctoronto.com